We are happy to share with you the amazing results of our project. 12 hospitals in 6 regions of Armenia are now equipped with art therapy!

Nature photography for healthcare is a subgenre of art as therapy. There is a body of evidence showing a link between images of nature having a healing effect on the body. One study showed that patients in an environment surrounded by nature imagery took less pain medication and left the hospital one day earlier than average.

Ayo! knew that Armenian patients could benefit from this healing power of art, and decided to extend the healing power of art to the photographers, themselves. We connected the beneficiaries of the FAR Children's Center with wonderful photographers, who taught them how to express themselves through landscape photography, and took their creations to be displayed in hospitals.
